WHITE HOUSE URGES ACTION IN RAIL DISPUTE

Prospects Brighten as Steelman Meets with Management, Union Heads.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, June 30 — Prospects for settlement of the lengthy rail dispute brightened today as the White House stubbornly pressed for action from a face-to-face meeting between union and management officials.

The heads of the three rail unions asking higher wages were brought together with the carrier representatives yesterday by Presidential Assistant John R. Steelman.

A four-hour session brought no immediate results but it was believed that a definite settlement plan was being considered. Asked about chances for final agreement, Steelman told a reporter:

I am not sure but tomorrow we'll try again."

Brotherhood Heads Present

The three unions — barred by court order from stalling the government-operated railroads—were represented by Alvanley Johnson for the Engineers, David B. Robertson for the Firemen and Engineman and Arthur J. Glover for the Switchmen. Their talk with management were due to resume this morning (8:30 a. m. EST).

The three brotherhoods had threatened to strike May 11 after refusing to accept a 15½ cent hourly pay boost agreed to by 18 other rail unions.

They wanted that figure raised —to a point now reported to be 16 or 17 cents higher—and they also asked certain rules changes which would mean still more money for their members.

A strike was headed off when President Truman took over the lines and gave control to the Army. The government also asked — and got — a restraining order to keep the workers at their jobs.

Goldsborough To Rule

Federal Judge T. Alan Goldsborough is due to decide Thursday morning whether to block off a walkout by a permanent injunction.

Union officials say that if Judge Goldsborough dissolves the restraining order they feel the three brotherhoods will be legally free to strike.

It was hoped that Mr. Steelman would make that an academic issue by squeezing out an agreement before then.

One of his assistants estimated that the presidential assistant has devoted close to 300 hours to the railroad negotiations since they first reached the White House May 4.

After the government had seized the lines he persuaded the three unions and a carrier negotiating committee to hold independent conferences in a hotel here. These failed.

A couple of days later Mr. Steelman began holding regular separate meetings with the two groups.

Until yesterday's conference, the union and carrier officials had not sat at the same table since May 21.

Plans for New County Coliseum Are Approved by Fair Board

Members of the Marion fair board approved building plans for construction of the fairgrounds coliseum at a meeting last night at the Chamber of Commerce offices, Frank Foster, chairman of the building committee and member of the fair board, announced today. Plans for the construction were approved by the building committee at a meeting Monday night.

Charles Oborn, architect who drew up the plans, attended last night's session to go over details of the construction with members. He had visited Columbus earlier in the day, where he secured state approval of the plans and permission to begin construction.

Bid Date Set

Actual date for breaking ground for the project has not been set, but invitations for bids on the contract will be sent out today, Oborn said. They will be sent to contractors in Pittsburgh, Pa., Youngstown, Bellefontaine, Cincinnati, Logansport, Ind., and Louisville, Ky., as well as to local contractors. Bids must be in by noon Aug. 7, when they will be opened and read by the Marion County Agricultural Society chairman. Construction will begin as soon thereafter as possible, and will take approximately seven months to build.

A levy of 1 mill, passed in the November election last year, over a five-year period is expected to bring in $350,000 to $375,000 to cover cost of the building.

Centrally Located

The building will be centrally located between the race track and the west fence of the fairground, with the long dimension of the building running north and south. It will be approximately 250 north of the art hall.

Outside measurements of the coliseum will be 323 feet long and 215 feet wide, and the sports arena is to be 92 feet wide and 212 feet long. It will have a permanent seating capacity of 5,907 and a temporary capacity of 10,000. It will be constructed of reinforced concrete and steel.

WIND, RAIN STORM HITS MARION AREA

Phone, Power Lines Broken by Limbs.

Sections of Marion were without electricity several hours, telephone lines were knocked down, and a car was damaged as a result of a storm and high winds which struck Marion yesterday afternoon.

Streets were flooded by 1.2 inches of rain which fell over the city. The city hospital reported no injuries resulting from the storm.

All line crews were pressed into service to repair damage to power lines caused by high winds. The north and east sections of Marion were the hardest hit. Primary power lines were knocked down by falling trees and these sections were without power for several hours. The power line to Caledonia also was cut by the storm.

Telephone lines were knocked down but service was not interrupted in Marion. Prospect was the hardest hit when a big tree fell on telephone wires. Long distance lines to Columbus were reported down.

A parked car belonging to Edward A. Dutt of near Waldo was damaged when a tree limb fell as the car was parked at Park boulevard and Center street at 1:11 p. m. yesterday. The right rear top of the car was dented.

The forecast for Marion is fair and cooler tonight and Thursday. The high yesterday was 90 degrees and the low was 62 degrees.

South and east of Marion fallen trees blocked roads yesterday the state highway department reported. No blocked sewers were reported to the Marion city sewer and street department.

PATROL SUB-STATION TO MOVE TOMORROW

New Address Is 766 East Center Street.

The Marion state highway patrol sub-station will have a new home and new address after tomorrow, state highway patrol officials announced today. The new address is 766 East Center street. The patrol telephone number will remain the same—2211.

Following the settlement of the estate of the late Harry Haberman and the resultant sale of the building now housing the patrol barracks by the state in May, the patrolmen were forced to look for a new home to set up headquarters.

After numerous offers were made by Marion residents, the patrol finally accepted the East Center street location. Moving began yesterday and is expected to be completed by tomorrow. Only a desk and a few odds and ends are yet to be moved the officials said. The new home is owned by Mrs. Kate Elliott of 641 Cherry street.

LAST BRITISH FORCE LEAVES PALESTINE

By The Associated Press

HAIFA, ISRAEL, June 30— The last British troops left the soil of troubled Palestine today, thus ending 31 years of British military occupation of the Holy Land.

In strict military order, the few remaining soldiers withdrew behind barbed wire barricades to troop ships and landing craft. British planes from an aircraft carrier task force buzzed overhead.

Lt. Gen. Gordon H. A. MacMillan, Britain's last military commander in Palestine, was the last British soldier to leave Palestine, in the evacuation which began on May 15.

The end of Britain's military rule came quietly, in strange contrast to the years of shootings and bombings.

In small groups, the marine commandos marched from their posts on Mount Carmel.

White-capped Jewish police took over the guard posts as the Marines retired.

Most of the Marines were plainly happy at leaving. When one column marched past a silent Jewish policeman, a marine grinned and shouted "you'll be along."

MAYOR VETOS PAY RAISE

By The Associated Press

AKRON, O., June 30—A $12.50 monthly pay increase for city employes was vetoed by Mayor Charles Sisinger yesterday. The mayor said he was sorry he had to do it, but added that Akron simply did not have funds to meet the pay increase. The council approved the wage boost recently.

YUGOSLAVIAN INDEPENDENCE IS PROCLAIMED

Communist Leaders Also Call for Balkan Bloc Formation, of Equal Nations.

By The Associated Press

BELGRADE, YUGOSLAVIA, June 30—Yugoslavia's Communist leaders firmly proclaimed their independence today and called for formation of a Balkan bloc "uniting Albanian, Bulgarian and Yugoslav people on the principle of national equality."

They also recommended several steps for "general strengthening of the Yugoslav army, by tightening up discipline and supplying the forces with "modern war technique."

"The Yugoslav army they said, 'protects the freedom and independence of the people of Yugoslavia."

The program was advanced by the Yugoslav Communists central committee, headed by Premier Marshal Tito, for presentation to the country's fifth Communist council meeting here July 21.

It was published in Borba, the party organ, only a few hours after the committee had denounced as "lies and "slander" the sharp condemnation by the cominform of policies pursued by Tito and his government.

Want Independence

"The national independence of the people of Yugoslavia is the condition for their road to socialism and their progress in general," the committee said in presenting the following program:

One "Further strengthening of moral and political unity for the people of Yugoslavia."

Two: Strengthening and further developing of tight cooperation with the Soviet Union."

Three "Strengthening and further developing of tight cooperation with the peoples' democracies."

Four "The most tight cooperation with the peoples' republic of Bulgaria and the peoples' republic of Albania, working on [redacted] Albanian and Bulgarian peoples with the Yugoslav people on a principle of national equality."

Five "Peaceful cooperation with all countries who wish to cooperate with the federalist peoples' republic of Yugoslavia on the basis of honoring their independence and equality in the framework of the principles of the charter of the United Nations."

Six "Activeness and cooperation of the federated peoples' republic of Yugoslavia in the struggle of the Democratic anti-imperialistic forces of the world, headed by the Soviet Union, against the anti-democratic imperialistic forces and war mongers."

Seven "The federated peoples' republic of Yugoslavia will keep backing all countries and all movements fighting for peace, who are against interfering in the internal affairs of other countries and for respecting their independence, and those who are for peaceful cooperation based on the principles of the organization of the United Nations."

Eight "Moral and political help for the working people of Yugoslavia in workers' movements, democratic movements and national liberation movements, and to the people who are struggling for liberty, democracy and socialism."

The whereabouts of Tito remain unknown. Without confirmation, he has been reported variously on an Adriatic island, at his summer castle in Bled and in Belgrade itself. (Other reports have placed him in Austria and Moscow.)

Old Barrage Balloon Raises Scare of Trouble in Berlin

Politicos Study Foreign Affairs, Home Campaign

By The Associated Press

Republicans gave political priority today to foreign affairs while Democrats talked about domestic campaign issues and candidates.

Gov. Thomas E. Dewey planned to go over the whole international situation with John Foster Dulles, his foreign policy adviser. The GOP presidential candidate is expected to aim his major campaign fire against the administration's handling of world affairs.

Dewey told a news conference yesterday he had been discussing the Berlin crisis with Dulles by telephone "twice a day now for days." From their session today may emerge a general statement of the New York governor's ideas about solving pressing international problems.

Dulles was scheduled to join Dewey at the governor's farm here about 1:30 p. m. (EST) and motor with him to Albany for a long discussion tonight.

Albany and Rensselaer county Republicans plan a reception for Dewey on the capitol steps upon his arrival. He probably will speak.

Talks With Warren

Dewey talked over election campaign plans with his running mate, Gov. Earl Warren of California at Pauling, N. Y. yesterday afternoon and last night. But their meeting was overshadowed by the New Yorker's expressed concern with the Russian blockade of the American, British and French sectors of Berlin.

Dewey told newsmen it was a "grave situation." When asked whether he thought it could lead to war, he said:

"We must not even consider such possibilities."

Dewey contended repeatedly in primary speeches that "this is not a war crisis. It is a peace crisis." He frequently accused President Truman's administration of "bungling" and "wavering" in matters of foreign policy.

Dulles, a U. S. delegate to the United Nations general assembly, has been Dewey's foreign affairs adviser since the governor, as GOP presidential candidate, joined with the Roosevelt administration in formulating a bi-partisan foreign policy four years ago.

Gov. Warren returned to New York after spending the day at Dewey's upstate farm. Warren is scheduled to leave for California Saturday.

Democratic Discussions

The cost of living and an Eisenhower draft meanwhile featured Democratic discussions in Washington.

Senator O'Mahoney (D-Wyo), said a paramount issue in the presidential campaign will be "high prices and the failure of the Republican congress to adopt President Truman's program to combat them."

O'Mahoney is a member of the Democratic platform committee slated to start work next week in Philadelphia. He frequently has been mentioned as a possible second man on a Truman ticket.

But Leon Henderson, chairman of Americans for Democratic Action, said he thinks there is a possibility Mr. Truman "will listen to the advice of good friends and local Democrats" and withdraw his candidacy.

The former OPA administrator told a news conference he believes Gen. Dwight Eisenhower would bow to a draft order from the Democratic convention which opens July 12 in Philadelphia.

"I know the majority of the people of the U. S. want General Eisenhower for president," he said, "and it certainly will be a political farce if the man the people want is not considered for the nomination."

Sees Truman Ousted

Henderson added that if either Eisenhower or Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas declares his candidacy the president will not be nominated. He estimated that only a "shaky" 310 pledged or instructed convention delegates can be counted on to vote for Mr. Truman.

Pro-Truman forces reported that the President now has 666 pledged and otherwise "favorable" votes —with 616 convention ballots needed for nomination.

But from New York and Pennsylvania came hints that those big delegations might not go solidly for the President. The 74-vote Keystone State group gave him its endorsement but Chairman John S. Rice said the action, not unanimous, did not bind any delegate. Many members of the Pennsylvania delegation said they want to go to the convention with "open minds."

New York's 100 delegates also were declared free to vote as individuals. Paul E. Fitzpatrick, state party chairman, said the "unit rule will not be invoked" and that the group will caucus on the convention's opening day.

U.S.-YUGOSLAV DEAL IN MAKING

Negotiations To Net Tito $30 Million Seen as Issues in Discord.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, June 30— The United States and Yugoslavia were reported near final agreement today on a financial deal which would net Marshal Tito's government about $30,000,000.

The extended negotiations over this money accord may have been one of the issues that set off the cominform blast Monday against the Belgrade chief.

Washington officials, watching Tito's defiance of the Communist high command with obvious surprise and delight, kept mum [redacted] the Yugoslav-cominform break.

For several months the United States government has been seeking payment of about $20,000,000 in claims for American property nationalized in Yugoslavia. Tito, on the other hand, has been laying claim to some $58,000,000 in Yugoslav assets which the United States froze in 1941 to keep it out of axis hands.

Bitter Words

The counter claims have been under negotiation for several months, diplomatic informants said, with Yugoslavia at times using the talks as a basis for bitter denunciation of the United States.

About a month ago, however, the Yugoslavs appeared anxious to reach a reasonable settlement on the nationalized property. They reportedly proposed a figure somewhere near the $20,000,000 asked by the United States.

The American government, in turn, appeared ready to unfreeze the $50,000,000 in Yugoslav funds as its part of the two-way arrangement.

The reported financial deal evidently has not been directly influenced by Tito's sensational split with Communist leaders.

But it does tie in with growing speculation here that if he finds himself in an impossible spot with his Moscow allies, he may turn actively to the western powers for help.

State department officials awaited a first-hand report in the next day or so from Cavendish Cannon, U. S. ambassador to

Rerouting Highways In Marion Vetoed by State

A city request for rerouting of two state highways through the business district in order to relieve a high degree of traffic congestion has been denied by the state highway department, Mayor Harry L. Dowler reported today.

The problem is not critical enough to justify state action to re-route state routes 4 and 95 away from the Main and Center street intersection, the city was informed.

City council in January authorized a resolution requesting state highway department approval of the route changes in an effort to relieve a traffic density measured at 29,000 vehicles over a 24 hour period at the critical intersection.

Wouldn't Solve Problem

State Highway Director Earl L. Reeb said his department, after giving the matter considerable time and study, had arrived at the opinion that rerouting would not solve the problem.

Three reasons were given by the state highway chief for the department's refusal to act. 1—traffic density at the critical intersection of Main and Center streets will not be reduced by more than 200 vehicles as shown by origin and destination surveys made adjacent to the city. 2—It is a department policy to not change routes unless the change can be justified. 3—State urban system will be increased 1.2 miles. 4—An, change of this nature could involve expenditure of additional construction funds and will necessitate the changing of all sectional records, maps, diagrams, etc., pertaining to these sections.

City Proposal

City proposals involved rerouting northbound traffic on Route 4 over to State street and north on State street, with southbound traffic on that route diverted over to Prospect street. Route 95 was not to run west on Church street, and hook up to Center street at Olney avenue. Both changes were aimed at diverting traffic away from the busy intersection at Main and Center streets.

With the state highway rerouting issue definitely closed by the highway director's action, Mayor Dowler indicated a study would be launched on the possibility of setting up truck routes to eliminate at least one major cause of downtown traffic congestion.

D-(LAST) DAY SET. 19,000 men a month will be taken into the Army beginning soon after Sept. 22 under the new peacetime draft law, Army Secretary Kenneth Royall tells reporters at a Pentagon press conference.

UNDECIDED ON 1ST DRAFT CALL

Age Group in Initial Order Not Yet Determined by Army.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, June 30—Selective service officials said today there has been no final decision on what age group will be called up first in the draft.

Age will decide the order of induction, instead of the goldfish bowl lottery of previous drafts.

Twenty-one has been the age most frequently mentioned as the starting point. Selective service officials said, however, that "no final determination" has been made. It is likely at least this will be decided by President Truman.

When the age group is finally decided, birthdays will decide the order of induction. Say 21 is the age. Men born on Jan. 1 would be first in line, Jan. 2 next and so on through Dec. 31.

Whether the first age group will be exhausted before another group is called up remains to be decided.

President Truman is expected to name the state draft directors in the near future. There about 4,000 local boards will be named.

About half of the present state directors of the office of selective service records—which will be absorbed into the new selective service organization — served as wartime draft directors. Many of them are expected to be named to administer the new peacetime draft.

All men 18 through 26 must register for the draft, but 18-year-olds can not be drafted.

Army Will Train Draftees To Fight

By The United Press

WASHINGTON, June 30—Gen. Jacob L. Devers, chief of the Army ground forces, said today the Army intends to train its draftees to be "fighting men."

His statement amplified the promise of Army Secretary Kenneth C. Royall that draftees will be neither "coddled" nor "kicked around" when they get into uniform.

The 225,000 to 250,000 men expected to be drafted within the next year under the 19-through-26 draft law can look forward to a routine soldierly routine, Gen. Devers said. That goes too for the expected 110,000 18-year-old volunteers and other troops which will make up the expanded Army of 790,000 men.

"We must train in peace as we would train in the event of war," Gen. Devers said.

"All training must stress that every soldier regardless of assignment has as his primary duty the obligation to fight," he continued.

"Individual training has two purposes: first, to teach men to fight; and second to teach men to instruct others how to fight."

Higher Meat Prices Predicted by Ag Dep't.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, June 30—The agriculture department predicted today that prices for meat-on-the hoof, now at record levels, will go even higher this summer and early fall. That means a further boost in retail figures can be expected.

Prices of hogs, cattle and sheep jumped 2 per cent between mid-May and mid-June as shipments to market dropped off and consumer demand for meat held strong.

FIRST SEEN AS RUSSIAN MOVE TO BLOCK FOOD

Routine Warning Is Misinterpreted by U. S. Air Forces in Germany.

By The Associated Press

BERLIN, June 30—A lone Russian barrage balloon used for artillery range spotting raised a false scare today on the aerial food ferry line to Soviet-blockaded Berlin.

In the mixup American transport pilots were warned to fly above the 5,000-foot level of supposed obstacles to their missions.

When the confusion of conflicting reports and rumors had settled down, it was determined that:

1.—The single balloon on a Russian artillery practice ground near Magdeburg is flown to help figure ranges and bearing and, the Russians have reported periodically to never up for more than an hour at a time.

2.—The Russians officially informed the British here that the old captive balloon homeforth would never go higher than 1,000 feet.

"The Russians have assured Berlin's four-power air safety center that there is only one balloon," a U. S. military official said.

Unofficial U. S. air forces officials, suspecting a threat to the air lifeline to Berlin, found a supposed mass of obstacles was just an old balloon that has flown a long time in the corridor between Berlin and the British zone.

The false report, presumably based on information from pilots, first came from Frankfurt and was quickly questioned by American air authorities here.

Pilots already had been warned to fly above the 5,000 foot level of the supposed obstacles.

The mere apparently was touched off by a routine warning to pilots at Frankfurt's Rhine-Main airfield.

Made of Report

The air flight service warned them to fly high and avoid the barrage at Dalle, 22 miles west of Berlin. The warning, new to American and British pilots, apparently was based on a routine Russian report that the old balloon should be avoided in flights to Berlin.

Barrage rumors reached air headquarters at Wiesbaden, where a spokesman for Lt.-Gen. Curtis E. Lemay said he knew nothing about it but was checking.

A few minutes later, the air force public information office at Frankfurt told newsmen balloons were reported over Dalle and a warning was going out in a few minutes."

A half hour later the barrage story was questioned by Berlin air officials, who then reported it was the same old balloon of which the Russians had warned the western powers.

There were a lot of red faces in the Frankfurt air command.

"The air flight service was just doing its job of warning all pilots," a public relations officer said.

The balloon scare developed soon after the Soviet command and the official Russian press in Germany had made cracks about the food ferry efforts from the west.

Russians Take Jab

The Russian press published a suggestion that the food planes were carrying loot out of Berlin on their return trips. The Russian high command expressed a hope that flying regulations would be observed.

American air officials stoutly denied the Russian charge of plundering. They said most planes of the big freight fleet were returning to western Germany empty.

Those returning loaded, they said, carried passengers and household furnishings belonging to Americans leaving Berlin on transfers into the U. S. occupation zone or going home to the United States.

During recent speculation on use of balloons Gen. Lucius D. Clay, American commander in Europe, was asked what he would do if such obstacles appeared.

"We'd deal with them as during the war," he replied. This presumably meant they would be shot down.

The Russians began their verbal blasts against the airlift last June yesterday.

Barrage balloons were first used in this country during the war to keep enemy planes from flying too low. Particularly were they used to protect vital installations such as London.

2 Train Engines Trap Motorist, Escapes

By The Associated Press

MIDDLETOWN, O., June 30— William Watson, 32, of Lafayette, trapped in his automobile for an hour and 45 minutes after it was smashed between two locomotives here, apparently escaped serious injury.

He was freed from the wreckage early this morning. Physicians said he had a lacerated chest and back and a cut right hand, but he was kept in the hospital for observation.

Police and railroad workers found Watson dazed from his car by using acetylene torches.

Steubenville Snarl Halts Bus Resumption

By The Associated Press

STEUBENVILLE, O, June 30—Resumption of service by the strikebound Valley Motor Transit Co was delayed today after legislation to extend present fares became snarled in city council here.

Under an agreement reached yesterday buses were to resume operation today in the company's three state area for a two-week period while efforts were made to have city councils here and in East Liverpool pass a fare increase.

Council members last night however, refused to suspend the rules to allow immediate passage of legislation extending the present fare rate. The action meant two additional readings will be necessary and bus service can not be resumed before Friday.

STUDEBAKER RESIGNS AS EDUCATION HEAD

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, June 30—Dr. J. W Studebaker resigned yesterday as U. S. commissioner of education, saying "I can no longer afford to remain in the federal government."

President Truman accepted the resignation, effective July 15.

In his letter to Mr. Truman, Dr Studebaker said he has continued as commissioner for 14 years "through the darkest years of economic depression, the period of defense preparations, the strenuous years of war, and these very difficult years of post-war readjustment."

"Along with too many other men, the time has now come when I can no longer afford to remain in the federal government," he said.

Mr Truman in reply expressed regret, and told Dr Studebaker: "I can fully understand the situation."

VIEWS ON REASONS FOR TAFT'S DEFEAT

By The United Press

WASHINGTON, June 30—The "Gallup Poll" psychology that cost Sen. Robert A. Taft was not a vote getter was an important factor that prevented the Ohio senator from getting the Republican presidential nomination, Rep. Clarence Brown, (R.) of Ohio, claimed today.

Rep. Brown, manager of Sen. Taft's campaign for the nomination, said two other factors also kept Sen. Taft from winning the nomination. One, he said, was failure of Gov. James H. Duff of Pennsylvania to announce publicly for Sen. Taft immediately after Sen. Edward Martin of Pennsylvania announced for Gov. Dewey.

"I told Gov. Duff deftly was murder," Rep. Brown said.

The third factor that kept the nomination from Sen. Taft, Rep. Brown said, was inability of the anti-Dewey forces to get together after the crucial second ballot.

Rep. Brown said the fact that Sen. Taft did not have time to campaign also played against him when the national convention rolled around.

"He had to stay here in the senate," he said. "He didn't even get to Philadelphia until Sunday afternoon. I had to be here in congress most of the time, too. Meanwhile Gov. Dewey and Mr. Stassen could spend all their time campaigning."

Senator Taft, meanwhile, said that "the theory that our organization was weak is all wrong, in my opinion."

Both Sen. Taft and Rep. Brown agree that the loss of groups of Taft delegates in Iowa, Indiana and West Virginia could not be blamed on anyone in the Taft organization. Rep. Brown claimed, too, that the Dewey victory in the credentials committee on the seating of the Georgia delegations was caused by switch-over of votes that had been definitely pledged to Sen. Taft.

TRAFFIC FATALITIES OVER NATION GAIN

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, June 30—The nation's traffic deaths increased in May for the first time in seven months.

A total of 2,650 highway fatalities were recorded in May compared with 2,570 in May 1947. October 1947 was the last previous month to show an increase over the corresponding month of the year earlier.

The May toll brought the year's total to 11,270—five per cent less than the 11,836 killed in the first five months of 1947.

The National Safety Council which released the figures, said the mountain states—with a 25 per cent jump in fatalities—were chiefly responsible for the May gain. Fatalities also rose in the Atlantic states. The Pacific states were the only region to register improvement with the central states holding even.

Of the 426 cities reporting, 288 had no traffic deaths in May. The list reporting no deaths included Mansfield, O.

By The Associated Press

ELKS HAVE HOUSING PROBLEM IN PHILLY

By The United Press

PHILADELPHIA, June 30—The Elks, not the Republicans and Democrats, had a convention housing problem of their own. But they reported it well in hand today.

E. Walter Hudson, in charge of housing arrangements for the Elks national convention which opens here July 4, said he has arranged hotel accommodations in the city for about 18,000 delegates and visitors.

"They'll fill the hotels solidly," he said. "But by making use of dormitory arrangements in the larger units and meeting rooms, we'll be able to take care of everyone."

Hudson explained that the Elks have no candidates who take up a lot of space.

The Elks convention is expected to draw a larger crowd than either political party. The four-day conclave closes July 8, four days before the opening of the Democratic national convention.

Hudson estimated that 20,000 visitors would see the parade which winds up the convention.

PREDICT PAY RAISE FOR STEELWORKERS

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, June 30—Steelworkers will get a pay raise "within a few weeks," the Iron Age, metalworking trade weekly, said today.

Steel prices also will go up, it added, "maybe as much as $6 to $8 a ton over quotations presently in effect with major steel firms."

The publication said the wage hike probably will be accompanied by group insurance and other social security provisions ordered under the contract signed in 1947.

"Capitulation on the steel wage issue will come," said the Iron Age, "after steel leaders have admitted that their attempt to stem inflation by cutting prices and refusing wage increases has failed. It was a good gesture. It means that the steel industry for once will not have to take the blame for a new inflation spiral."

Prices will go up, the weekly predicted, "after steel companies find out what their new coal costs are and how much steel wages will add to steelmaking costs."

Berlin Today, Tomorrow What?

PUBLIC opinion in the Berlin crisis has crystalized in advance of official announcement by the United States that the issue in the beleaguered city is war

Yet, it is plain that the government knows this and is preparing to deal with the possible consequences Gen Wedemeyer chief of operations is on the scene Gen LeMay, who bassed the heavy bombing operations against Japan, is on the scene Gen Clay, in chagre of U S occupation forces, has warned Russia that it cannot drive the United States out of Berlin by action "short of war" The British spokesman, Gen Robertson has made a strong statement. The first trans-Atlantic flight of jet fighter planes has been announced The French government is obviously and uncomfortably aware of the potential war brewing in the Berlin area.

The United States is preparing for a showdown with Russia that may precipitate war if that's what the gremlin wants It is doing this with the knowledge of the American public—knowledge which included the key fact of the whole tragic situation in Europe, that Berlin itself is relatively unimportant.

It is only the Danzig of this new crisis. Russia wants to force the western powers out of Berlin today so it can force them out of Germany tomorrow and out of Europe eventually. It is repeating the squeeze procedure made famous by Hitler not only in Danzig but in every area marked for conquest It is hoping of the same errors made before—errors that gave the Germans what they wanted short of war so that when war finally became inevitable their position would be strong. It is hoping that France and perhaps Britain will turn to appeasement; that the western powers will disagree; that the kremlin can divide and rule, just as the reichschancellory was able to divide and rule. The long-awaited showdown has arrived.

Tito On the Way Out

THE cominform's denunciation of Tito is an indication that the skids have been greased for one who was generally thought to be the kremlin's fair-haired boy in Yugoslavia

The reasons for the denunciation lie in the inscrutable workings of the Communist hierarchy. Perhaps Tito, like Earl Browder and many another before him, zigged when he should have zagged in attempting to follow the party line. Perhaps the Kremlin has little liking for the emphasis Tito has placed on Yugoslav nationalism. Perhaps he spoke out of turn at a party council or failed to play the role of today which is expected of all satellite leaders. Or it could be that Yugoslav's last vestige or autonomy is to be sacrificed as Russia maneuvers to outflank the western allies in Austria and Germany.

Like all dictatorships, the Communist must keep purging itself On the lower levels this goes on continuously, keeping the Siberian work camps well staffed. On the upper levels the repercussions come at intervals. The first great purge saw Trotsky banished in 1926 after his position had deteriorated for five years. The discrediting of Trotsky, plus Lenin's opportune death, left Stalin in full command The great Russian purge came in 1936 when Zinoviev, Radek, Kamenev and Tukhachevsky were liquidated. The element threatening Stalin's control was whittled down to size.

Further, Russia must be constantly aware that on the western border is a tier of satellite states with more than 100,000,000 population They must be held in firm rein at all times That accounts for the stiff rebuke handed Bulgaria's old-line Communist Premier Dimitro last spring when he proposed a customs union among the satellites.

Perhaps the stern edict handed Tito is the kremlin's warning to the satellites to remember who's boss Or it could be that Tito has been sacrificed to open Yugoslavia to Russian troops thus promoting the cold war against the west

The Best Years

SPEAKING before the American Psychiatric association, Dr Edward G Billings of Denver has shattered another illusion by saying that the years between the ages of 25 and 35 are difficult ones That is the time, he says, when youth's roseate dreams are tempered by reality, resulting in disillusionment, even embitterment and imaginary ills

That leaves the question What years are good years" Psychiatrists write of psychoses warped by rough handling during childhood's formative years Such disparate writers as Tarkington and Pareto have recounted the miseries of adolescence Beyond 35 intimations of middle age become reality, and the news that Shirley Temple has a baby makes many a man who still has all his hair ponder how time is flying.

The woes of the fat 40's and the futile 50's are too numerous to be recounted here, for they are the years of falling arches and rising blood pressure. As for the 60's and the 70's, they look better on a golf scorecard

Scanning the Record

By George E. Sokolsky

It's Time To Regain Old Friends.

I HAD lived in China and Japan for many years, and the war interrupted old and enduring friendships. The test of friendship must be forgiveness. Certainly, no civilized person can recognize collective guilt nor can he assume that every citizen of every country is responsible for all that his government does. War is an abnormal condition of man and during its tenure of our minds, we do and say things for which there can be no regrets, once human decency reasserts itself I should not like to be held personally liable for what Harry Hopkins and his president did to my country or to much of the world, nor can I hold old and fine SOKOLSKY friends responsible for the evils that their politicians did to their countries and to mine.

It was then a moment of delight when an old Japanese friend, Kensuke Horinouchi, turned up the first of my Japanese friends to make an appearance since the war's end Horinouchi was once the Japanese ambassador to the United States and a formal, stately diplomat he was Now he is a democrat, a joyful, even gay person, the veneer of courtly stiffness all gone

What impressed me most was that there were no complaints, no protests, no recriminations. "Our country had sunk to its lowest point," he said, "but that is really fortunate For had we continued to move along the old channels, it would have been worse Now we are starting afresh, a new people, resurrected from the deadliness of militarism. We are sincere in our desire to be a democratic people It is not easy to change overnight, but we are retraining ourselves. Our defeat was so complete that no one questions the defeat. There can be no alibis. Besides, Japanese are not given to alibis; we take what comes

"We had been told lies and the lies were found out We were led to believe that we could conquer but we have been conquered No one can say that it was some accident. We know the truth and the entire Japanese people face the truth with courage."

I asked personal questions, about his wife, his property, his home Well, his home and whatever he possessed were destroyed, but he has no complaints. His and his family are alive. Millions lost their lives in those hard years, therefore those who are alive have cause to thank God No use crying over losses; better to be thankful for what remains. Certainly those who have anything left at all have more than they could have hoped would remain.

All the time my old friend, Ken, was talking, I could not help but contrast his attitude with that of so many European refugees and even the officials of European nations whose jeremiads break one's heart, whose plaints are like the wail of beggars. I could not help recalling an English woman bedecked with diamonds and minks, who bemoaned her poverty and the poverty of her country until I felt like taking her to the nearest pawnshop where she could retrieve her fortune in dollars by becoming practically nude—that is, getting rid of her jewels

Japanese Not Cry Babies

No cry-baby was this Japanese. I suggested that Japan might want a treaty but he replied that Japan needed some guarantee of security, having no means of defense. With conditions as they are in Korea, Manchuria and China, it is too early to leave Japan in a vacuum, for that space would soon be filled. He praised General Douglas MacArthur in unmistakable terms and said that no one in Japan would misunderstand what happened in Philadelphia MacArthur is doing too much for Japan for any intelligent Japanese to worry about Philadelphia Intelligent Japanese apparently have nothing but praise for MacArthur

Well, it is always good to see an old friend and particularly after a war has severed all connections. Life is enriched by friendships regained. It is especially good to see an old friend whose spirit had been beaten down, with his chin erect, his head high his hopes reborn—and not a single complaint in his soul. I saw just that spirit in the earthquake of 1923 Tokay began to rebuild on the morrow of disaster.

Radar Fights Disease

ROCHESTER, Minn.—The tiny radio waves that provided the "eyes" of radar are now under study as possible aids in treating the human body.

While radar figuratively helped to cook the goose of the Axis, researchers at the Mayo Clinic hope it now will provide a new means of heating living tissue in the treatment of disorders influenced by penetrating heat.

In radar tiny "microwaves" were beamed through space and reflected back from targets they encountered—thus producing an "image" of the target on a special screen

In the still-experimental technique known as "microkymatotherapy," or "microwave diathermy," they are designed to penetrate tissue at any desired point—and do such things as heat muscle layers beneath the skin and increase the flow of blood.

A group of Mayo investigators, headed by Dr. Frank H. Krusen of the section on physical medicine, already has published a preliminary report on the use of radar waves to heat living tissue in experimental animals.

A microwave is an extremely short wave of electrical current. The type of wave used in the heating technique measures only 10 centimeters (a little over three inches) in length. Such waves vibrate about three billion times a second. Radiowaves used in commercial broadcasting are more than 50,000 times longer and their vibrating rate is only around 1,500,000 times a second.

The ideal wave for heating living tissue would be one that would be short enough to be focused on any desired area. It also would have a high enough frequency to produce adequate penetration and absorption.

Various types of radiating waves are already in use for heating living tissues These include

1. Infra-red heat waves—the invisible rays of the sun located immediately next to the visible spectrum. Man can produce infra-red waves with special lamps.

2. "Long - wave" diathermy currents with frequencies up to three million cycles a second.

3. "Short - wave" diathermy (radio) radiations of about 20 meters in length and frequencies of ten million cycles a second.

4. "Ultra-short" radio waves of 2-meter length and frequencies of 100 million cycles a second.

Thus, the new microwaves are 20 times shorter and vibrate 10 times faster than "ultra-short" waves.

Infra-red rays can be focused from a lamp like a searchlight beam, but they penetrate scarcely at all. The "short" radiowaves employed up to now are penetrating, but they can not be focused.

The new microwaves are led into a cone-shaped director which can be focused on a specific area and beamed very accurately.

The Mayo studies on animals have shown that such waves are at least as penetrating as "ultra-short waves" There also is preliminary evidence that microwaves are absorbed more efficiently.

If human use is demonstrated as feasible, the researchers reported, "the possibility of placing the microwave director in any position will provide wide flexibility in therapeutic application. Freedom from pads, encumbering cables and toweling commonly used with short-wave diathermy will permit more rapid cooling of the skin. The radiation from the single microwave director can be beamed and localized in the manner of a spotlight, thus facilitating clinical application"

The studies on animals showed the following.

1. Internal tissue can be adequately heated without undue heating of the skin

2. A definite increase of blood flow occurs in a part heated by microwaves.

Stepping Out

From News of Other Years

TEN YEARS AGO

It was Thursday June 30, 1938.

At Gettysburg, Pa., 2,000 aged Civil war veterans turned back the pages of the nation's history 75 years to the stirring events of the great conflict between the north and the south The gathering was the last bivouac of the Grand Army of the Republic and of the men of Robert E. Lee

Announcement was made of the transfer of Frank J Tamplin superintendent of the Kent division of the Erie railroad to Youngstown and his replacement here by A. W Baker who had been chief trainmaster at Youngstown The change was to become effective the following day

Robert Campbell of Gurley avenue left for the Adirondacks in New York where he was to play with a string trio at the Dart Lake hotel.

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs Kenneth Jerew of North Seffner avenue.

A 6 o'clock dinner followed by cards at the home of Mrs A L. Bintz of East Center street, closed the season for the Tuesday Study club

Seven new members were inducted at the weekly Kiwanis luncheon at Hotel Marion. They were Donald M Gunder, George A. Howser, Paul Hunt, Jack Weis, Rex H Robinson, B Peterson and D P. Miller.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

It was Saturday June 30, 1928

City service department employes under the direction of William Honaker, street superintendent, began resurfacing portions of Center street in the uptown district with amesite

The Marion building on South Main street was purchased by John J Dugger of Marion

Miss Mary Olive Sloan a nurse in the Cleveland Clinic hospital was visiting her parents, Mr and Mrs. E. A. Sloan of Delaware avenue

William Dowler of Windsor street left for Lakeside where he was to fill an engagement during the summer playing in an orchestra directed by Walberg Brown of Cleveland, formerly of Marion

Stock quotations on the New York exchange included American Telegraph and Telephone 175; General Electric, 153 General Motors, 190 Goodrich, 70 U S Steel, 137 and International Harvester, 266

Petition for the Willow Swamp ditch improvement in Marion and Union counties was granted by the joint board of the two counties and Clyde Caldwell, deputy Marion county surveyor, was placed in charge of the work

French Birth Rate Climbs

Experts Can't Agree Why Decline Ended.

FRANCE now has so many children she doesn't know what to do

Faced with an unexpected rise in the number of her babies, she is hard put to feed them on more than the "broth without bread" of the nursery rhyme

There the resemblance ends. Unlike the Mother Goose character, France is far from unhappy about her booming baby production It reverses a trend that has threatened her existence for almost a century.

In 1938 France had 612 000 births, or 146 to revery 10 000 inhabitants. Last year the births were up to 860,000, or 210 per 10 000

The higher birth rate creates many problems French dairy production is at an all-time low Milk is husbanded so carefully for babies and their mothers that it is the one product city dwellers cannot get even on the black market.

Lack of foreign assets has cut into wool imports needed for baby clothes Parents who apply as soon as they expect a child sometimes do not get their rationed layettes until the baby is six months old.

But no matter how many problems it creates the higher birth-rate is solving France's biggest problem of all—repopulation

There were many explanations for the prewar decline in population One was that the fear of economic ruin (which never materialized) made Frenchmen more economy - minded They didn't want to spend money on large families

In the cities there was a tendency away from home life In the country many farms were so small they could support few mouths and needed few hands. Large families only created inheritance problems

There were not enough hands to turn the wheels of French industry, let alone expand it Millions of miners and laborers were brought in from expanding foreign populations, mostly Polish and Italian

France did not have the surplus population which could have peopled her colonies There were almost as many Italians as Frenchmen in Tunisia

This was handy in keeping down unemployment during depression years French economy did, in fact, show greater resistance to business crises. But during the boom years it also was slow at industrial expansion

During the war the statisticians feared France's death knell had sounded. Deaths cut her population still further, and the birth rate was cut even more by the breakup of homes and the absences of potential fathers.

Then, as the postwar period came, the birth rate unexpectedly shot up At first it was believed a temporary phenomenon, but it has kept up

Authorities have offered many explanations, but they concede none is entirely satisfactory Postwar France has a lower standard of living, and that is often accompanied by increased home and family life and a higher birth rate There also are severe government measures against any interference with births

Another explanation is that the war years of uncertainty and insecurity have been followed by a desire to have a family.

Joe Louis—Still the Champ!

By Jack Finn

JOE LOUIS the champion has been around a long time I remember away back in 1935 when I was in the fifth grade and the "Brown Bomber" was a hopeful challenger

Our teacher was asking who our heros were Having clear-cut views on the subject, I frantically waved my hand and proudly proclaimed that mine was Joe Louis.

I remember her reply "I admire your choice" She said it with a sneer.

I was keenly aware of the slight my "champion" had been handed, but dismissed her opinion as one which came from a female who didn't know the score, as far as sports were concerned I was right, Joe Louis was worth a kid's hero worship.

Before his ascendancy, an awful stink had surrounded the world's heavyweight title I remember that, too

I remember when Primo Carnera took the championship from Jack Sharkey in 1933 Soon after that, we found out that Carnera had been muscled into prominence by New York hoodlums and both he and the title had been a thing for gangland exploitation.

Then, in 1934 Maxie Baer flattened the Italian giant and took over

All the papers told us that Maxie had a beautiful haymaker and a lot of girl friends. He even made capital in the movies of his questionable away-from-ring activities.

Through his conduct Maxie put forth the idea that training to become and remain a boxing champion was a thing for suckers. I don't know whether or not this really was his idea but it was the impression

Nobody resented the title going to Jimmy Braddock in 1935, but we had the feeling Joe Louis was the champion of his class and would grab the toga the first chance he got.

He bagged it in 1937 He still has it

I don't suppose Joe knows it, but during his career as champion he has done a lot of social work and a lot of religious work, by his conduct.

I saw Joe only once That was during the war In Texas he put on an exhibition for us

He was a beautiful thing to see, and the GI's showed their approval by a mild rebellion of cheering and applause. My impression was that Joe felt bad about not being able to do more. He was anything but cocky

When Joe—old Joe now—left the ring last Friday night after licking Jersey Joe Walcott it was the 25th time he had put his title on the block. It was the last time. He's going to retire—the undefeated heavyweight champion of the world.

He will be tough to replace. Not many professional prizefighters deserve the hero worship he inspired by behaving like a champion.

New Device Studies Meteors

PASADENA, Calif., June 29—A device which permits astronomers to determine the orbits and speeds of meteors has yielded evidence that some "shooting stars" come from debris left by comets, Dr Fred L. Whipple of Harvard university reported today

The instrument consists of two cameras set about 25 miles apart which can be snapped either simultaneously or within short intervals of time. Each camera covers a wide field of the sky and is equipped with a rotating shutter, which make it possible to break up the path of light produced by the sky visitor

With this tool the path of the meteor can be determined and its speed calculated. Computations then can be made to show whether it may have come from an area where a comet crossed the orbit of the earth.

The orbits of 45 meteors have been determined this way with considerable accuracy Dr Whipple told the American Astronomical society. They lead him to believe, he said, that most bright meteors come from comet wreckage rather than from asteroids or meteorites.

Asteroids are little planets ranging from two to 500 miles in diameter which circle the sun like the earth and other planets. Most of them occupy an area between the orbits of Mars and Jupiter far outside the earth's orbit, but a few of them may lurk in the vicinity of the globe

Meteorites are chunks of matter which wander around in space just beyond the earth Once in awhile one of them gets into the earth's atmosphere. It is traveling so fast that the friction it produces in the air makes it white hot and it becomes one or more meteors.

T. Manville

By TRUMAN TWILL

HEREWITH another pot-boiler by T Manville the tomcat, this one on a subject of more than ordinary interest—beauty hints

A cat's tail is to a cat what a woman's hair is to a woman—the crowning glory That is why cats are always fussing with their tails

People talk about the tails of cats but do not understand the subject It is like a lot of other things that people talk about

The first thing to know is that a happy cat can be recognized by the condition his tail is in If it is not sleek, thick and bushy, the owner is not in good mental or physical shape.

If the tail is in good shape, which means that the owner also is in good shape (bright-eyed and bushy-tailed as the saying goes), it will be held at the proper angle, which is straight up when friendly and above-board, or straight back from the root when angry or preoccupied with big deals. Beware of cats whose tails drag They are not the kind you'd choose for good companions.

A cat's tail, besides being an indicator of condition, is useful in many other ways. It is what keeps the cat in balance when jumping, walking on fences and the like. The tail also is used to show which way the wind is blowing when stalking small game.

In cold weather it can be wrapped around the feet and of course it finishes off the cat's appearance a thing that can be plainly seen by looking at a cat which has no tail, as sometimes happens

The tail of a cat is very high-strung This makes it a safety valve Cats are nervous by nature, but instead of getting the fidgets in ordinary ways they merely let the fidgets wear themselves out by sending all of them back to their tails When a cat's tail twitches on the end, it means the cat is getting rid of the fidgets.

The thing that makes a cat's tail what it deserves to be is constant licking This brings out the gloss in the hair and keeps the appendage in good condition. It also is good exercise stimulating to the liver and believed to be beneficial to the teeth

Any cat worth his board will take pride in the maintenance of his crowning glory As far as I know there is no private enterprise such as ladies beauty parlors, to do this job for cats. Only dogs and women are dotingly enough to depend on beauty parlors to keep them presentable. Cats with pride would rather be found dead in a fish market than admit they couldn't take care of themselves without professional assistance.

This is all I have to say about the tails of cats at the present time, and I will appreciate it deeply if you will leave the 35 cents you owe me for this essay under the pillow on the bed in the guest room without disturbing me, because I need the money, also the sleep.

FARM INCOME AHEAD OF LIVING COSTS

By The United Press

WASHINGTON, June 30—Farm income, boosted by sharp increases in meat prices, climbed high enough during the month ended June 15 to more than offset rising living costs, the agriculture department reported today.

Despite the fact that living costs equalled last January's all-time high, the department said, farmers were better off. Increased farm income was sparked by a $3.30 per hundred pound rise in hog prices. Prices for beef cattle, veal calves and lambs set new records in mid-June, the department said.

The index of prices received by farmers—based on the 1909-14 average of 100—was 298 on June 15. This compared with 289 on May 15 and 271 a year ago. The record was 307 last January.

The index of prices paid by farmers, including interest and taxes, was 231, equalling last January's top. It was 230 in May and 220 a year ago.

Comparing prices paid with prices received, the department measured the farmers' mid-June purchasing power at 118 compared with 118 last month. It was the same as in mid-June of 1947. The all-time high was 133 in October, 1946.

Ohio Conservation Unit To Improve Fishing

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., June 30—A new program to give Ohioans "more and better" fishing was announced today by the Ohio Conservation division.

First goal, said the division, will be to maintain present good waters; secondly, to give game fish still better places in which to live while waiting for a baited hook.

The program is based on eight steps which the division said are necessary to improve Ohio's fishing.

TIMKEN WORKERS THREATEN STRIKE

By The Associated Press

CANTON, O., June 30—A federal conciliator stepped into a wage dispute here today in an attempt to head off a scheduled walkout of Timken Roller Bearing Co. employes at midnight tonight.

Conciliator T. W. Robertson of Cleveland called a parley of CIO-United Steelworkers officials and Timken officials for today to consider union demands for 11-cent hourly pay increases and ousting of alleged wage inequities.

Robertson's action followed a statement by District Union Director L. W. Abel that attempts would talk out after midnight tonight if a working contract expiring then is not extended or replaced by a new agreement.

Abel said spokesmen in Canton, Columbus, Dresden, Zanesville and Mount Vernon plants of Timken, which employ about 13,700 workers, had authorized union officials to call a strike, if necessary to enforce union demands.

Timken officials earlier announced their plants would be shut down for two weeks starting next Monday for yearly vacations and inventories.

William E. Umstattd, Timken president, said the firm planned to spend $3,150,000 to retain the wage inequity issue. The alleged inequities were ordered eliminated in a war labor board directive to the company in November, 1944.

No species of birds or fowls now existing have teeth.

All Ohio Prison Cells In Death Row Occupied

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., June 30—There's a housing shortage in—of all places—Ohio penitentiary's death row.

Warden Ralph W. Alvis said yesterday that all 14 death row cells are occupied and three more condemned men are expected shortly.

He announced plans to add seven more death row cells, which will be ready for occupancy as soon as special-type locks are installed.

The row's population is scheduled to decrease Friday night with the execution of Clifford Gayton, 24-year-old Xenia Negro condemned for the fatal beating of Mrs. Edna Adkins near Middletown, O.

ERIE EXECUTIVE TALKS TO ROTARY

H. A. McAllister of Cleveland Speaks on Selling.

H. A. McAllister of Cleveland, assistant to the president of the Erie Railroad Co. spoke to members of the Marion Rotary club at their weekly luncheon meeting Tuesday at Hotel Harding.

Associated with the training of salesmen for a number of years employed with various large automobile industries before becoming associated with the Erie railroad, Mr. McAllister talked on salesmen and their jobs, and on the theme, "how to sell enough merchandise or service at a fair profit to keep 2,000,000 enterprises going so as to employ at least 60 million workers. He added that if we have a large number of unemployed then we will have communism or statism, because communism will then step in.

Mr McAllister stated that it is a proven fact that the greatest weakness of salesmen is their inability to answer questions and objections. Sales managers and superintendents should be good teachers and teach salesmanship.

Mr McAllister explained his personal outline of seven essential steps in closing a sale which he believes will help a manager to practice team-work with the salesman in saving many sales. His seven steps are as follows: (1) think your price is sound and fair (2) plan and make a good approach, (3) plan and impel a favorable setting by knowing and using human traits, (4) make an effective presentation of product or service, (5) answer questions and objections, (6) uncover impelling motive or buying interest; and (7) use impelling closing appeals.

Guests of the club were C. A. Palker of Toledo, E. H. Huffman, R. G. Henry and Carl Dauber, all of Marion.

TEACHING RESTRAINT VOTED IN NO. DAKOTA

By The Associated Press

FARGO, N. D. June 30—A measure to prohibit nuns from teaching in North Dakota's public schools drew an increasingly strong vote of approval early today as returns mounted in the state's primary election.

The margin was by no means decisive however and the controversial measure shared interest with close battles for several state offices.

In the headline fight for the Republican nomination for governor Gov. Fred G. Aandahl was leading Ervin Schumacher 38,978 to 22,880 with 661 of the state's 2,259 precincts counted. OBSERVERS IN OHIO DISCOVER HUGE STAR

By The Associated Press

PASADENA, Calif., June 30—Scientists at Cole Tech's observatory in Cleveland have discovered a "supergiant red star" estimated at 10,000 times as much infra-red radiation as the sun a Case observer reported today in total radiation, however its brightness amounts to only about 1,000 times that of the sun.

Dr. J. H. Nassau, director of the Cleveland observatory, said in a paper which he read to a meeting here of the American astronomical society that he believed infra-red photography had enabled Case to penetrate deeper into space than ever before in the history of astronomy.

Infra-red rays were used in the current discovery made by Dr. Nassau and C. E. Van Albada of Amsterdam, Holland, visiting Case professor, Nassau said.

Dr. Nassau said infra-red photography had to be used in such discoveries of "red" stars which are "terrifically luminous" and vaude most of their light in the infra-red range.

"It seems to me," he continued, "that through the study of giant red stars we have been able to reach the limit of our own galaxy."

He said the new star either was at the limit of the sun's galaxy or outside the galaxy's rim, and was the first discovery of its type. Its distance from the earth was estimated at 30,000 light years.

Both of the Marion pair were still in the Wyandot county jail today after failing to raise the required bond for their release pending the September grand jury session.

INCOME TAX EVASION BRINGS INDICTMENT

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, June 30—A federal grand jury today indicted Eleanor Louise Patenotre, former owner of the Philadelphia Inquirer, and her son Raymond, charging attempted evasion of $2,000,000 in federal income taxes and failure to report a profit of more than $8,000,000 in the sale of the paper.

U. S. Attorney John F. X. McGohey said the indictment charges tax evasion on a net income of $8,769,108.27 and a tax liability of $2,183,347.68 in 1930. Mrs. Patenotre owned a controlling interest in the Inquirer, he said.

McGohey said that in 1930 Mrs. Patenotre reported an income of $26,282.16 on which she paid a tax of $1,567.31. On May 4, 1930, McGohey said, the Inquirer was sold in Montreal, Canada, for $10,500,000. He said the profit on the sale never was reported to the federal government.

Yugoslavia who is enroute home for consultation.

Diplomatic observers meanwhile looked for the next Kremlin move to provide a key to the whole Balkan situation. Some believe that if Tito gets away with his refusal to follow cominform orders, leaders in other satellite countries may decide they don't have to knuckle under either.

Now that they have cracked down on the Yugoslav leader apparently without success, Communist chiefs are confronted with a tough job of face-saving.

Sending the Red army into Yugoslavia would lay Russia open to outright charges of aggression in the United Nations—and might, in addition, have far more serious results.

BEST, OF NAZI RADIO, GETS LIFE SENTENCE

By The Associated Press

BOSTON, June 30 - Robert H. Best, the American newspaperman and radio propagandist for the German Nazis for $200 a month, was sentenced today to life imprisonment for treason.

ERP BOYCOTT MAY BE ARMS AID PENALTY

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, June 30—ECA Administrator Paul G. Hoffman said today American aid may be shut off from any Marshall plan country whom sends war-potential goods into Soviet bloc countries. He made that statement at a news conference where the question of British sale of jet plane engines to Russia was raised.

The economic cooperation administrator said certainly any sales of war-potential goods to Soviet-bloc countries will be considered cause for discussions looking to a possible shutdown of American aid.

Hoffman emphasized this policy would apply not only to American-made recovery goods financed with ECA dollars but to products produced by the 16 Marshall plan countries themselves.

This represented a broadening of U. S. policy on the issue of "contraband" shipments into the Russian sphere. Previously ECA has stated it would shut off aid if Marshall plan shipments were diverted to Russia.

Answering questions at a news conference Hoffman referred specifically to jet plane engines. Britain already has sold some to Russia and has announced her intention of negotiating a broad trade agreement with Moscow. Emphasizing that even European-made war material would come under ECA's ban, Hoffman said:

"A jet engine is still a jet engine whether it comes from this country or a participating country."

CLAIM U.S. WARSHIP FIRED ON ARAB LINE

By The Associated Press

CAIRO, June 30—Syria has protested that an American warship off Palestine shelled Arab lines, a Syrian official disclosed, as the Arab league met yesterday to mull over United Nations proposals for a Holy Land peace.

Mahmoud Al Imenat, Syrian interior minister, in Cairo for the league session, said the protest was made to the United States and to Count Folke Bernadotte, UN mediator.

He described the warship as one of those the U S recently placed at the disposal of Bernadotte, and said the shelling took place three days ago near Al Burye, during a Jewish attack. He added that the Arab troops shelled were under the command of Fawzi Pasha Al Jaulli.

In Washington, the state department said it had received no official word of the Syrian protest. A department spokesman said American destroyers were in the Palestine area only as observers of the U S truce.

"The captains were under strict orders not to fire, not to search and not to board other vessels," the spokesman said.

GENERAL WON'T LET OHIOAN MARRY JAP

By The United Press

COLUMBUS, O., June 30 — A happy Columbus mother revealed today that one of the Army's top men in Japan is taking steps to break up the plans of her son to marry a Japanese woman.

Mrs Oren Reed smiled happily as she disclosed that she had received a letter from Lt Gen Robert L Eichelberger, commander of the Eighth Army in Japan, saying her son would be transferred.

Her son, Cpl. Delbert M. Reed, 19, stationed at Kyoto, Japan, had written Mrs. Reed last month of his plans to marry a Japanese woman. The anxious mother immediately wrote Army and Red Cross officials. She wrote long letters to her son, asking that he reconsider.

Gen. Eichelberger, himself a native Ohioan, said in his letter:

"I appreciate your anxiety for the welfare of your son. Permission to marry a Japanese national in Japan must be authorized by me before any marriage can take place and in this case the marriage will not be approved.

"For the best interests of your son and the Army, I am taking action to obtain reassignment for your son in the Far East but outside Japan."

Pleads Not Guilty To Auto Larceny

Elmer Mitchell, 20, of St. Louis, arraigned yesterday before Judge W. D. Hasen on charges of auto larceny filed by police, pleaded not guilty and was bound over to the Marion county grand jury under $1,000 bond.

Mitchell was found unconscious under the wheel of a car owned by Eddie Bates of Cleveland, after the car was wrecked in a collision at 3:11 a. m. Saturday at the intersection of Kenton avenue and West Center street six minutes after Bates had phoned police from the Cozy Corner club to report his car had been stolen. Mitchell was in City hospital for medical treatment until released today when charges were filed against him by Chief Marks, of the Marion police.

ARRESTED BY GIS. Taken into custody by American MPs for speeding in the U. S. zone of Berlin, Soviet Marshal Vasily Sokolovsky (above), military commander of Russian-held Germany, was released after thirty minutes detention. Orders to release the Marshal were issued by Gen. Lucius Clay, U. S. commander, who later sent a letter to Sokolovsky apologizing for the arrest.

Love's Perilous Path

By ADELE GARRISON

"DON'T you remember," I asked Mary, "that you suggested to Olga that there might be a suitable wedding gown in one of her step-father's theatrical warehouses?" If that wasn't extending a helping hand in difficulties I'd like you to name one."

"Yes, I did give her that advice," she said. "It was my good Scout deed for that day. But my brain waves are limited."

"I've never noticed it," I told her dryly. "But all this is beside the point. If you're sure you're feeling fit, I'll telephone Olga we're coming over."

"Give my darling step-mamma-in-law my love," she said. "She's a person I have a great fondness for. She's swell!"

"She's that, and more," I said. "I'll telephone her now. Will you be ready to go when I've finished?"

"I'm ready now," she said, sitting up, and swinging her legs over the side of the bed. "Be right with you."

She was in the living room by the time I reached the telephone, and sat down in a chair near the door as if she were ready for instant flight.

Olga answered the telephone, and I spoke quickly.

"Mary and I can come up to your apartment at once," I told her.

"How wonderful!" she said. "Philip will be right down. He was delayed in going out."

"Thank you. We shall be ready," I said, and put back the receiver on the hook, restraining an impulse to slam it down.

"What's eating the auntie?" Mary queried saucily.

"I suppose I ought to be grateful," I said, "but your father-in-law is coming down to escort us up to their apartment."

"I know," she said. "It gives me the willies, too. But to do him justice, the idea didn't originate with him. Your father's responsible for the protection angle."

"It doesn't make me like it any better," I said obstinately, but it can't be helped."

"So we'll just twiddle our thumbs until the old darling gets here," she said. "What do you think, would it be a good thing to ask him to stop and give Neal the news about our going day after tomorrow when he's out on his errands? I suppose he'll be starting the publicity for the wedding, won't he?"

"I think he's laying the paperlines today," I answered. "Father doesn't want anything printed until the day we land there."

"Well I can see his point of view there," she said. "Any movements of the Graham family, social or otherwise, are apt to be misconstrued by interested parties."

Philip Veritam's knock gave me no chance to answer her, and the next minute he was in the room, bending over our hands with his old-world courtesy, which enchants or irritates me, depending on my mood.

"The lift is waiting," he said and he held the door aside for us to precede him. But I snatched an opportunity to speak one sentence, prisonfashion, to Mary.

"Yes, tell him about Neal," I murmured.

Who Do Not Now Have Combination Windows and Doors

Here's Why Weather-Seal Leads In Window Engineering And Research

Fourteen years ago, Weather-Seal established the first scientific window research laboratory. We built windows of many types. Received permission to make dozens of complete home installations. Took draft tests, smoke tests, dirt checks. Designed, redesigned and perfected the Weather-Seal interlock construction which has never been equalled for permanent, tight fit and ease of operation.

We still have test windows of wood and other materials weathering on the east coast of Michigan. In several industrial communities with sulphur and other destructible chemicals in the air. In the salt heavy air of the Florida coast. In industrial laboratories Weather-Seal and competitive windows are undergoing severe accelerated weather and weathering tests — and tests of ease of operation.

In every test Weather-Seal windows and doors of California Coastal Redwood are far superior. That's why we can and do guarantee, in writing, every Weather-Seal installation for a lifetime.

Harold A. Etling
President

Weather-Seal windows and doors are built of age-old California Coastal Redwood . . . will not warp, rot or shrink . . . stays beautiful with little care.

With Weather-Seal, your change winter panes to summer screens in a jiffy. A few turns of an exclusive screw fastening and windows and screens come out easily.

Your Good Health

By DR. HERMAN N. BUNDESEN

When the Pancreas Acts Up

A DISEASE of which we hear little is chronic pancreatitis or long-continuing inflammation of the pancreas, and yet I would venture to say that a great many people today suffer from it without realizing what causes their trouble

The pancreas is a gland located in the abdomen and though small it is all-important to the health of the body It manufactures several secretions some of which empty into the small intestines where they aid in digestion. One powerful chemical known as insulin, passes directly into the blood Insulin is necessary if the body is to use sugar properly and a decrease in the amount of this drug manufactured by the pancreas results in the disease called diabetes.

Inflammation of the pancreas can come from any one of several causes It may become infected itself or may suffer from infections of the organs against which it lies—the liver gallbladder and stomach Obstructions in these organs, such as stones in the gallbladder or tumor of the stomach may press against it to cause irritation

Then too, the pancreas may be damaged by poisonous substances such as alcohol arsenic-containing drugs or anesthetics. It may also be injured as a result of accident or operations

Inflammation of the pancreas causes severe pain in the pit of the stomach. The pain may pass to the back The pain is not related to the eating of food Sometimes a patient has diarrhea If diarrhea is present there is usually a great deal of fat in the bowel movements Sickness at the stomach, vomiting, and loss of weight are often present

In cases which have been present for a long time diabetes due to a lack of insulin, may occur In many cases, not only is fat present in the stool But also undigested meat fibers This latter condition when present is a strong indication that the pancreas is diseased

If disease of the pancreas is suspected, a thorough study is indicated A careful X-ray examination of the duodenum of first part of the bowel is advisable since if the duodenum is deformed, it is an indication that some distrubance of the pancreas may be present There are of course other causes of deformed first part of the duodenum.

In chronic pancreas inflammation several measures should be employed These consist of proper treatment of diseases of the gallbladder and liver and treatment of ulcer of the stomach and bowel and gastritis or stomach inflammation if present

The patient should abstrain completely from the use of alcoholic beverages,

If there is a deficiency of the pancreatic secretion necessary to digestion, the patient may be given raw finely-ground pancreas from an animal This is served in salt, in as large amounts as the patient can take A purified extract from the pancreas also may be used If there is a lack of acid in the stomach, a weak solution of hydrochloric acid may be administered

The major portion of the diet should be made up of healthy foods with enough protein to supply the needs for repair of the body tissues The diet should contain a minimum of irritating foods

Questions and Answers

E M S Will you please tell me something about Buerger's disease?

Answer The exact cause of Buerger's disease is unknown However it has been found that in this disease the walls of the blood vessels become thickened and there may be a lot in the blood vessels This lot is to slow, some of the blood that should be carried to the muscles and other tissues of the leg

The earliest symptom of the disease is a pain in the calf of the leg or foot especially after exertion Color changes usually appear in the foot the foot becoming a purplish red when held down and white when it is elevated

There have been many types of treatment advised for this condition Injecting a salt solution into the veins of the leg Exercises such as raising and lowering the feet at started intervals, are also recommended Cutting certain nerves which supply the blood vessels, or injecting alcohol into them may also be helpful

LEAD AMERICANS IN BRITISH OPEN

By The Associated Press

MUIRFIELD, SCOTLAND, June 30—Jimmy Thomson, Los Angeles professional, and Frank Stranahan, Toledo amateur, led a contingent of nine American golfers into the first 18 holes of medal play today in the British Open championship.

The close of the 36-hole qualifying round left 97 survivors for the final 72 holes of the tourney. Another 18 holes will be played tomorrow, after which the 40 low scorers advance into the final 36 holes Friday.

But it was the veteran British professional, Henry Cotton, who held the spotlight in the qualifying play. Cotton fired a pair of 69's for a 138 total.

Thomson, the long-hitting California pro star who was born near Muirfield, was low for the American group. He shot a 75 yesterday which gave him a 143 after his sparkling 68 of Monday.

Stranahan, who won the British amateur title recently and is aiming for a "little slam" in this meet, had a 70-75—145. He was runner-up in the British Open in 1947.

Three other Americans had 144's for the qualifier. They are Lawson Little, Cleveland twice winner of the British amateur; Capt. Ed Kingsley, Utah player serving with the army of occupation in Germany, and Arthur Clarke Hurlingham, W. Va.

Claude Harmon, Mamaroneck, N. Y., had 145. Johnny Bulla, Phoenix, Ariz., and Charles Rotar, Canton, O., pro with the Army in Germany, each 148, and Bobby Cruickshank of Virginia, 152.

Cruickshank barely made the top qualifying score of 152, lowest in the tournament's history.

HEAVYWEIGHT RANKS JOCKEYING FOR TITLE

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, June 30—It's been less than five days since Joe Louis laid his crown aside but already there is considerable stirring in heavyweight boxing ranks.

Here are the raged fire developments:

1. Ezzard Charles, the Cincinnati light heavy who is rated a leading contender, is reported ready to "fight from one to ten" for the championship and, as a starter, is signed to meet Jimmy Bivins of Cleveland in Washington Aug. 2.

2. Gus Lesnevich, the world's light heavyweight champion who is one of the "big three" in the heavy picture that includes Charles and Jersey Joe Walcott, expressed delight over the prospect of a September bout with Walcott.

3. Walcott said he didn't think much of a proposed tournament to decide Louis successor. He said he figured that his two bouts with the Brown Bomber earned him a sort of "crown prince" role and he should fight either Charles or Lesnevich, not both, for the title.

4. Jack Solomon, leading British promoter, counted himself in on the deal and announced plans to have a part in the series to determine the new champion.

The most ambitious talk came from the camp of Charles, the speedy 175-pounder who has lost only one decision—a split verdict to Elmer (Violent) Ray—since he got out of the Army. Charles later knocked out Ray.

Louis, meanwhile, is golfing daily. He will leave this weekend for French Lick, Ind., for a vacation.

REDS DOWN DUGS IN LENGTHY GAME

Emerge 5-4 Winner in 3-Hour 55-Minute Contest.

By The Associated Press

CINCINNATI, June 30—The unpredictable Cincinnati Reds started a game last night with the Pittsburgh Pirates and, after a wild scramble, emerged early this morning with a 6-5 victory.

The three-hour, 55-minute contest ended shortly before 12:30 a. m., and most of the 23,328 fans, who turned out in ideal weather, were there for the game-winning play.

Big Howie Schultz hit the payoff blow, a 14th inning pinch single that sent Ted Kluszewski home with the deciding marker. Kluszewski had angled to open the inning, moved to second on a sacrifice and took third on a wild pitch.

The game was enlivened in the Pirate half of the final frame when Umpire Bill Stewart banished Pittsburgh Manager Billy Meyer and three of his men for continued protesting of a play at home plate.

With a man on first, pitcher Kirby Higbe bunted safely but the ball struck his leg and Stewart called him out. Higbe and Meyer protested and were ejected. Dixie Walker and Pirate trainer Charles Jorgeson kept the argument going from the bench and followed Meyer and Higbe minutes later.

Max West, a former Redleg, banged a three-run, pinch homer in the ninth to put the Pirates ahead 5-2 but the Reds came back in their half to score three runs, two of them homers by Johnny Wyrostek and Frank Baumholtz, sending the game into extra innings.

The Reds had pounded Elmer Riddle, another former teammate, for 10 hits in the first eight rounds but could score only two runs.

Ken Raffensberger, who pitched the final two innings, was the winner and Elmer Singleton, the third Pirate hurler, was charged with the defeat.

The Reds and Pirates rested today for an afternoon tomorrow.

PLAN FIELD BLEACHERS

UPPER SANDUSKY — Survey of estimated costs and availability of materials is being made by the Rams Booster club here for setting up a program to secure additional bleachers for the high school field. The present seating capacity at the field is about 2,000 and attendance in recent years has been 3,000 for home league football games. A committee named by Charles Reed Jr., president, to investigate possible answers to the problem includes H. L. Mason, P. W. Cline, C. A. Naus, Harold Cope and Paul Ayers.

In Plain Words

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON

IF HE'S elected president, Thomas E. Dewey says, there'll be the "finest housecleaning Washington ever saw."

This may give the impression that the present swarm of people working for the government would be fired. That hardly seems likely.

You can see why from this:

He could use the broom only in the other two branches—judicial and legislative—are practically untouchable by any president.

James Marlow

For example, take the judicial branch—

There are about 375 U. S. judges of all kinds and about 2,000 people working under them, like court clerks.

Almost everyone of the judges now sitting on a bench has been appointed for life by President Truman or some previous president. So they're safe.

And the court employes have almost all been appointed by the judges, and they're beyond the presidential touch.

So Dewey as president would really be able to do only one thing in the judicial branch: appoint new judges as vacancies occurred.

Now take the legislative branch.

Congress—without counting the members of the house and the senators, all of whom are elected by the people—has about 4,000 employes.

They include stenographers, clerks, secretaries, and others.

The members of congress hire them and the president, unless there are a couple of minor exceptions, has nothing to do with hiring or firing them.

THAT LEAVES only the people in the executive branch of the government—various departments and agencies—for Dewey to work on.

They number 1,948,000 everywhere—in Washington, the rest of the country and overseas.

Of that total 82 per cent, or 1,594,160, are civil service employes. The rest, 168,840, are non-civil service and have been appointed to jobs.

It's on that second group—the non-civil service people—that Dewey could do most of his broom-work. But take the civil service workers first.

They are people who have taken competitive examinations for their jobs and are making a career of working for the government.

THEY INCLUDE bureau heads, clerks, stenographers, and so on. They can be fired for only two reasons:

1. If they've done something wrong.

2. If their jobs are wiped out.

Dewey could sweep them out the second way by asking congress not to vote any more money for their jobs.

By voting little or no money for a certain agency, congress could reduce the number of its employes or cancel out their jobs altogether.

But, still this can't be done with too many agencies.

Now take those other 168,840 non-civil service people who have been appointed to their jobs or accepted them without civil service examination.

THEY ARE THE members of the president's cabinet. Each president appoints his own cabinet which steps out when he retires.

Dewey, naturally, would appoint his own cabinet.

Then he could be expected to get rid of most, if not all, the heads of the independent government agencies—there are less than 100 such agencies—who were appointed by President Truman or President Roosevelt and did not come up through civil service.

Such agencies include the maritime commission, the interstate commerce commission, and so on.

Then there'd be the special assistants to the department or agency heads who are not civil service people.

There are other non-civil service employes—like the chauffeur to a cabinet member or special secretaries to department heads—who'd be likely to go. The new department heads would pick their own people.

But even so the government has to be run. Good people willing to work for government salaries are not easy to find.

And Dewey, who has the reputation of being a good administrator probably would be careful about firing good people doing a good job.

Salem Faces Shortage Of Water Despite Rain

By The Associated Press

SALEM, O., June 30—Despite recent heavy rains, this city of 12,000 residents faced a water shortage today.

That was the opinion of Service Director Frank R. Wilson, who banned operation of air conditioning units in restaurants, stores and factories. Wilson acted after City Engineer F. S. Barrenhaff said Salem's water supply was dangerously low.

Officials attributed the shortage to heavy domestic and industrial demands for water. The city obtains its supplies from deep wells and a surface reservoir.

New York Stock Quotations

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, June 30—The stock market leaned a little to the minus side today.

A few oils and rails pulled ahead but on the whole small losses outweighed small gains

Trading activity was about on a par with yesterday's session, the slowest in some three months. Monday was another slow day

Union Pacific and Nickel Plate railroad were two strong spots in the carrier section. Union Pacific advanced around 3 preparatory to a two-for-one split-up of the common stock which is effective July 1. Nickel Plate, a recent favorite, reached a new high for the year with a gain of around 2 points. Nickel Plate recently turned out an excellent earnings report and directors have approved a plan to pay off arrears on preferred stock in cash out of earnings rather than go through recapitalization

Pepsi-Cola moved up around a point.

Lower prices were paid for Bethlehem Steel, General Motors Schenley American Smelting, and United Aircraft

Higher were Standard Oil (NJ), Texas Co, Great Northern preferred, Illinois Central, Phelps Dodge, and Johns-Manville

TODAY'S BIRTHDAY

HAROLD J. LASKI, born June 30, 1893, was chairman of the British Labor Party when it rose to power in 1945. Less radical members have since taken over. Raised in an orthodox Jewish Manchester home, Laski taught in Canada, U. S. and British colleges. At London university he is said to have indoctrinated a whole generation of students in the philosophy of Socialism. "We must plan our civilization or perish," he has said.

One Man's Opinion

By WALTER KIERNAN

It looks like Ike Eisenhower will be drafted before any 19 year olds . . . Registration hasn't begun but he's getting "greetings" from the Democrats.

• • •

It's not that they dislike Harry but they've taken hotel rooms for five days and they need a little opposition to keep the convention going.

• • •

The Democrats figure the Republicans went to Philadelphia with eight candidates and they'd like to have a choice of two . . . A choice of one can be confining.

• • •

I didn't say that Harry is in danger but if that inspection train has steam up he'd better get aboard again . . . The main line looks wide open from here.

• • •

But I understand that Ike has instructed his secretary to tell anyone who looks like a Democratic state chairman that he is at lunch and won't be back until December.
